

WEEKLY ECONOMIC CALENDAR AHEAD

Here is what you need to know about the important news between September 12th, 2022, and September 16th, 2022, where we take a look at the economic data, market news and headlines likely to have the biggest impact on the market prices this week and beyond, as well as the US Dollar, and other key correlated assets.

U.S. dollar index

The Us dollar Index declined for the first week in last four, trading near 108.80. Hawkish FED speak, mainly along with the tensions on Russia - Ukraine war and the energy exports from Russia, causing the greenback indicator to drop for the week. This week, focus shifts to US Retail Sales and Consumer Sentiment for new indications.

Gold

Gold prices inched higher on Monday retaining small gains from last week, as the dollar declined further from 20-year highs, waiting for the key US inflation data this week.

Oil

Oil prices dropped early on Monday, after a volatile week, as investors are worrying about slowing demand, causing prices to go down. Trade data from China also showed that Oil imports slowed in August, due to Covid Lockdowns, and lower demand on the number one importer in the world.

Stocks

U.S. stock have begun to perk up after major benchmark averages snapped three consecutive weeks of decline, while investors have their eyes and ears for inflation data which is expected to be released this week.
